The Price & Lee Company is pleased to publish the 1975 edition of the Springfield Suburban City Directory. The City Directory contains household and business information within five major sections.

I. The Buyers Section, printed on ivory paper, displays under appropriate headings, those advertisers within the community who ardently support the directory service and desire to make a presentation of their products and services.

II. The Classified Section, printed on yellow paper, lists alphabetically under appropriate headings those businesses contained throughout the City Directory, serving as a comprehensive guide of the business sector in the community.

III. The Alphabetical Section, printed on white paper, is a complete alphabetical listing of all available households and businesses; and defines that information according to home and business addresses, occupations, marital status, etc.

IV. The Street Section, printed on green paper, contains in alphabetical sequence all streets; and list under each street description in numerical or house sequence the dwellings on that street, the occupant, telephone number if possible, and an indication of whether the home is privately owned. Business information is characterized by job description where pertinent.

V. The Telephone Section, printed on blue paper, is a complete list of all phones numerically listed under appropriate exchanges giving telephone number and owner.

The five sections of the City Directory, along with the introduction (including governmental information) gives a complete survey of the population of the Springfield Suburban community.

HAMPDEN HISTORY

The territory which now comprises Wilbraham and Hampden was called Minnechaug by the Indians. This meant "berryland" in their language and for generations berries of all kinds grew abundantly in this area. It was very appropriate, therefore, that the new regional high school carry the name of Minnechaug.

The two towns were part of the Outward Commons of the town of Springfield for some years after they were settled and it was not until 1763 that the mother town seceded and took the name of Wilbraham. Our village was then called South Wilbraham.

The first settlers here were the Pynchon, Hitchcock and Stebbins Families who built their homes about 1740. The Pynchons were descendants of William Pynchon, the first settler in Springfield. Others followed fast until in a few years both sides of the Scantic River were dotted with houses.

For over 40 years there was no church in this village and all the residents had to go by ox cart and horseback to the one that stood on Wigwam Hill on Wilbraham Mountain with its inspiring view of the Connecticut Valley. A Congregational church was built on the Village Green in 1783. The actual date of organization, however, was 1785.

Not long after their arrival the settlers began placing dams across the Scantic River and its tributaries so that grist mills and saw mills might be built. In the late 1800's three large woolen mills were in operation. One stood opposite the present fire house, one where the ice plant now stands further down Main Street, and one southeast of the Somers Road Bridge.

Schools were started at an early date but the first ones were held in private homes. About 1791 four district schools were built in various sections of the town. One was on North Road, north of the Junior High School Playground, while another was built on Somers Road near the Main Street intersection. The other two locations were on Scantic Road and Glendale Road.

In 1878 we withdrew from Wilbraham and took the name of Hampden, after the County, which in turn received its name from John Hampden, prominent British statesman.

Since Hampden was bypassed by both train and trolley service the local mills could not compete with those in other towns where there was quick transportation for raw goods and the finished product. One by one they closed. Two of the large woolen mills later burned to the ground and one was torn down. This village was threatened in the early 1900's with becoming a ghost town since so many of the houses became vacant. The advent of Henry Ford and his Model T changed the situation entirely and much of the building of new homes in the Springfield area is now moving in this direction. The Swiss-like amphitheater of Hampden Village is attracting lovers of nature and the prospects for the future are very bright.

RICHARD SALTER STORRS LIBRARY

Stephen Williams, the "Boy Captive of Old Deerfield," Longmeadow's first minister, spoke in his diary in 1754 of a library being formed. This was later dissolved, but in 1796 another was started and the original charter is among the treasured possesions of the Storrs Library.

In 1839 came the Young Men's Library, the Longmeadow Lyceum; each group operating for a short time in various places. In 1895, the state offered $100 to encourage small town libraries and it was voted to accept the gift, giving an impetus to the town's growing interest in books. The library has been in continuous operation since that time.

In 1907, Miss Sarah Storrs, a descendant of Longmeadow's second minister, left a sum of money, her home and land, (which includes the park used by the town for its ball field) to the library association. From then on, the library was known as the Richard Salter Storrs Library in honor of her antecedents.

In 1932, the present library at 693 Longmeadow Street was built, costing the town nothing for the building, its furnishings and equipment. The town, however, contributes by taxation to the running expenses. The decor of the interior includes copies of antique museum pieces, lamps, draperies, and rugs in keeping with the Georgian Period, creating a homelike, welcoming atmosphere; and the wall coloring corresponds to that used in the Williamsburg buildings. The architect was Smith and Bassett of Hartford and the builder, the William J. Quinn Company of Longmeadow.

The library, since the dedication of its new building in 1933, has circulated over one million and three quarters books and circulation in 1972 totaled 120,000.

WEST SPRINGFIELD HISTORY

West Springfield was the first off-shoot from Springfield. The act incorporating it as a separate town was dated February 23, 1774. At this time it included all of the territory west of the Connecticut River which now comprises West Springfield, Agawam, and Holyoke. By the mid 81's the population had nearly tripled. The Massachusetts legislature realized a separate town government was needed for the fast growing and industrialized Ireland Parish. The town of Holyoke was incorporated March 14, 1850, with the boundaries those of West Springfield's Ireland Parish. Five years later the southern section was split off, and Agawam was incorporated a town on May 17, 1855. The present town now contains 10,720 acres or 16.75 square miles.

The town is proud of its Common. It once had a shipyard on the east end, was a campground for Hessian soldiers and had three buildings, a town hall, school house and meeting house. It also had a bandstand and a fountain. These are long gone but it is now part of "Broadway Historic District" so it will remain as is.

In 1933 a fifty-seven acre tract now known as Mittineague Park was given to the town and in 1960 two large tracts were acquired from Robinson State Park and the Aschenbach family, and added to Mittineague Park.

HISTORIC ECONOMIC TRENDS

A grist and saw mill was built in 1779, and later, utilized steam power. In the first part of the 19th century there was considerable industry here. There were tanneries, a mill for cloth dressing, a gin and brandy distillery, and around 1840, a hat factory. A dam was built at Mittineague Falls in 1840, furnishing power for several factories, among these being the Agawam Canal Company, a cotton factory built in 1848, the Southworth Paper Company and the Agawam Paper Company, built in 1859. In the southern part of the town, cement-lined cast-rion water pipes were made and used by water companies all over the country. The Clark carriage and wagon shop operated a large business. The Bartholomew steam sawmill and grist mill at the center of town, as well as the tanneries, helped to swell the town's manufacturing interest.

WEST SPRINGFIELD'S "FIRSTS" . . . and ITEMS OF INTEREST . . .

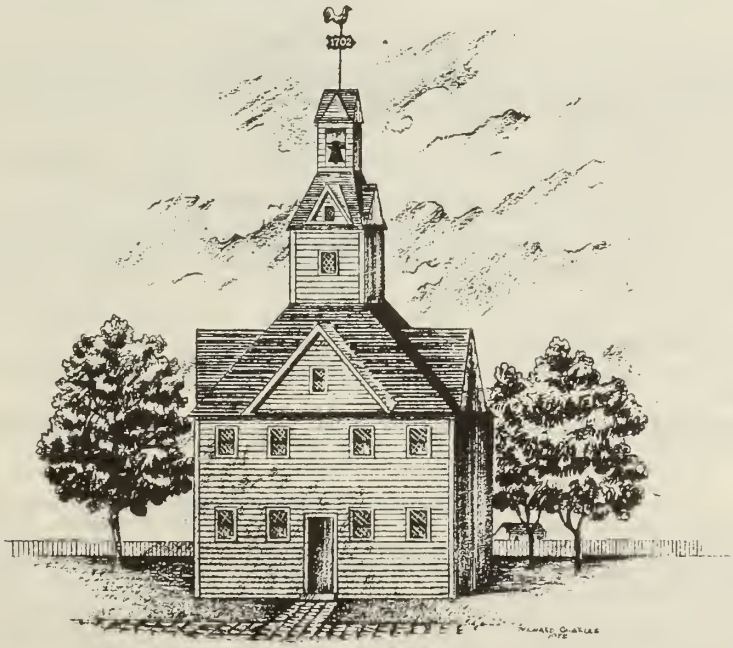
JUSTIN MORGAN, born here in 1747 on a farm when the community was still a part of Springfield, was a very versatile man -- school teacher -- singing master -- horse breeder -- and psalmodist. The fact that he bred and managed the great stallion, Figure, who eventually was called by his master's name, Justin Morgan, and founded the famed breed of Morgan horses, has overshadowed his accomplishments as a musician.

GOODWILL INDUSTRIES "Not Charity but a Chance" was started by the First Methodist Church in 1924-25.

CELLOPHANE OR PLASTIC PACKAGES OF PREPARED VEGETABLES, ready for the salad bowl or the soup pot, is now familiar to every housewife. But few are aware that this marketing idea, now used across the nation, originated on a West Springfield market garden in 1942.

The project of SELLING LIGHT BULBS, for special needs of the blind and people of limited vision, originated with the West Springfield Lions Club and has since spread all over the world.

SPORTS FIGURES from the town are LEO DUROCHER, former baseball player and now manager; EUGENE GRAZIA, a member of the U.S. hockey team that won the Olympic Gold Medal in 1960, and Heisman Trophy and All-American Honors winner, ANGELO BERTELLI.



OLD FIRST CHURCH OF THE COMMON - WEST SPRINGFIELD, MASSACHUSETTS

OLD FIRST CHURCH OF THE COMMON

The old First Congregational Church on the Common, nearly opposite the present Town Hall, (see historic bowlder, marking the location), was erected within four years after the formation of the parish, as the date stated on the quaint gilded rooster weather vane, 1702. The building was 42 feet square, and with its gabletopped, "two-story" tower, was 92 feet in height. The architect was the veteran builder, John Allys, of Hatfield. The vane was said to be of precisely the same height and size of the imported-from-England bird which has been performing similar duty on the tower of the First Congregational Church in Court Square, Springfield. It was said to have been purchased at the same time, with three others. made by the English coppersmith.

The first story constituting audience room and galleries, with three outside doors, and two windows each side of the doors with corresponding windows above them to light the galleries and upon each of the four roofs projected a dormer gable with a window. The pulpit, on the north side in place of a door, was lighted with one window on each side. Above this story was another much smaller than the first, having one window on each side and high roofs and gables like the one below, upon this was a third story smaller than the second with roofs and gables, the body portions of this story having on each side an opening to serve the purpose of a bell-room.

A drum was used for 41 years and then a bell was procured and used for 18 years when its tones were ruined in like manner and re-cast and replaced in its place in the tower; in 1802 it was transferred to the new church on the hill; it was re-cast in 1825 to enlarge its size. The building was clap-boarded but never painted. All the windows were small with leaden sash glazed with diamond shaped glass.

All of the interior of the first story was all open, exposing to view beams studding, rafters and outside boarding, no inside finishing above window stools, the floor was laid at the bottom of the sills making it necessary to step over the sill to the floor. Two flights of stairs led up to the galleries in the south easterly and south westerly corners, starting each side of the door. Around the walls were 15 large square pews, in the central part were two rows of long slips fronting the pulpit with,, a partition between them, one division being occupied by the men the other by women, one aisle on the east and one on the west side. Pulpit, pews and railing of oak and yellow pine, of the size, style and height of the pulpit nothing is definitely known, it was furnished with a sounding board.

This unique house of worship was occupied for a century without plaster or paint, or was ever a fire built within its walls, the women using foot-stoves with live coals. In 1748 Mr. Obadiah Frary, of Northampton, constructed a wooden "Meeting House Clock" and it was placed in the tower and was used for 25 or 30 years, when it became unfit for use and was removed. The building being sadly in need of repairs, the parish gave the people liberty to make repairs which was done at expense of nearly $600.00; it was used 16 years after this, when it was abandoned for the new church on the hill, June, 1800, for which the contract price was said to have been $1400.00 and 10 gallons of St. Croix Rum, valued at $60.00; no rum was used, its value in money divided among the men. 6 to 10 men were employed, and the contractor, Timothy Billings, thought he made $4.00 a day.

THE PUBLIC LIBRARY

In 1775, a library was established in West Springfield by Rev. Dr. Lathrop, pastor of First Parish, and John Ashley. The books were carried from house to house in a two bushel basket and were later kept in a room in the Town Hall. The original building was a gift of the Carnegie Corporation in 1916, and an addition was erected in 1958. The library is maintained in large by local taxes and trust funds.

In addition to a book collection of 70,056 volumes, the library lends paintings, records and paper backs. An active Children's Department offers pre-school story hours, a popular summer reading program and, in cooperation with the school department, teaches classes in the use of the library. Circulation for the year 1973 was 156,165. The building is open 7 days a week for a total of 72 hours.

ABOUT AGWAY

Agway Inc. is a farm supply and food marketing business owned by 110,000 farmers in 12 northeastern states: Connecticut, Delaware, Maine, Maryland, Massachusetts, New Hampshire, New Jersey, New York, Ohio, Pennsylvania, Rhode Island and Vermont.

It was formed in 1964 by the merger of two regional farmer cooperatives: Cooperative GLF (Grange League Federation) Exchange, founded in 1920, and Eastern States Farmers Exchange, established in 1918. Pennsylvania Farm Bureau Cooperative Association, formed in 1934, merged with Agway in 1965.

Agway is a business corporation founded and operated on cooperative principles. It is subject to and pays the same Federal income taxes as any other company. But only farmers may own its common stock and be members of the cooperative.

Agway was created to meet and serve the needs of agriculture. Its primary objective is to help farmers farm more efficiently and more profitably.

To do this, Agway produces and distributes farm production supplies, and markets some of the products raised by its members.

These functions involve nearly 1,000 distribution outlets (stores, dealers, petroleum bulk plants); 94 production plants, mostly in the Northeast, but ranging as far west as a seed processing plant in Oregon; and 30 processing and storage facilities for marketing farm products.

Agway also carries out a broad-scale research and development program to find new and better ways to farm and to market food. Built around Agway's own research facilities and personnel, the program utilizes several sources of research information. Among them: farm tests in cooperation with members, joint projects with industry and government agencies, and grants-in-aid to agricultural colleges for research expected to be of value to Agway members.

Although membership is limited to farmers non-farm customers are welcome at Agway stores. Most stores and dealers sell home and garden products as well as farm supplies. The Agway petroleum service delivers heating fuels to thousands of suburban and city homes as well as to farm homes.

Petroleum bulk trucks are out in all kinds of weather, making deliveries of gasoline and heating fuels to patrons.

Central Offices of Agway are in Syracuse, New York. The offices at 95 Elm Street serve as headquarters for the Eastern Distribution Division, which covers most of New England, the Hudson Valley, and Long Island.

HAMPDEN COUNTY IMPROVEMENT LEAGUE AND JUNIOR ACHIEVEMENT

The Hampden County Improvement League, the agency which carries extension service to the people of Hampden County was founded by Mr. Horace A. Moses, on January 25, 1913. The aims of the organization as set forth in the bylaws are "to foster, encourage and promote all things in the communities of Hampden County which tend to increase the productivity of the soil, or to advance or conserve the educational, civic, moral and religious welfare of the communities." The League has assisted in the organization of extension work in twenty-four counties in NewEngland, New York and Pennsylvania. In October, 1925, the League moved into a building of its own on the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition, given by President Moses.

The success of the 4-H Clubs in various parts of the country, prompted Mr. Moses to start something of the kind here.

The movement had the support of prominent men from the start. The late Theodore Vail assisted Mr. Moses in financing it, while President Calvin Coolidge was warm in his indorsement of the movement. The Rotary Clubs of the Nation raised $50,000 to assist Junior Achievement, and the entire country east of the Rocky Mountains, has felt its influence. In 1925, the Junior Achievement Building was erected on the Exposition grounds. This building was also the gift of Mr. Moses.

STORROWTON VILLAGE

On The Eastern States Exposition Grounds

Open Mid-June through Labor Day

Storrowton was the gift of Mrs. James J. Storrow of Boston, an Exposition trustee. She donated the buildings to preserve the peaceful charm and beauty of early New England village life. The original Early American buildings grouped around the elm shaded green were chosen for this restored village after painstaking search was made throughout the earliest settled regions of New England. Once found, each building was taken down, board by board, and then reassembled to the last detail at Storrowton, as they were first erected a century and a half ago.

Old Storrowton Tavern originally served the weary traveler in the hill town of Prescott, Massachusetts, as the Atkinson Tavern. It was built by John Atkinson shortly after the Revolution, upon his discharge from the Continental Army. The second floor has a large hall extending the entire length of the main building with a fireplace formerly used to heat it. In the old days, this was the commodious space in the town of Prescott, Massachusetts and was frequently used for dances and other activities.

Looking across the green past the white entrance gate, one sees the Gilbert Homestead, once a farm house in the Massachusetts town of West Brookfield. To the left of this is the Potter Mansion, (with the tiny Eddy Law Office in between). This mansion, built entirely with his own hands belonged to another Revolutionary War soldier, Captain John Potter of North Brookfield, and was completed in the late 1700's. In back of the Potter Mansion may be seen the great Stagecoach Barn in which coaches once put up over night at Greenwich, Connecticut, on the journey from Boston to Albany. Looking to the far left corner one may see the Village Blacksmith Shop from Chesterfield, New Hampshire, and next to it the Little Red School House where, for more than 100 years, the children from Whately, Massachusetts, learned their three R's.

Dominating the village at the far end and raised by a low terrace from the level of the green, is the Salisbury Meeting House. The way in front is appropriately named "Sabbath Street." In this fine example of early New England church architecture may be found one of the oldest hand-made organs in the country. To the left of the meeting house is the oldest of the village restorations, the lovely gambrel-roofed Phillips House. This fine house was built in Taunton, Massachusetts in 1767. The Old Town Hall has now been joined to Atkinson Tavern to make the Old Storrowton Tavern as you see it today.

During the annual Big E, (third week in September) square dances are a highlight of activity on-the-Green. Located as it is on the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition, Old Storrowton Tavern is close to many events continually planned in the buildings of theExposition.

We will be only too happy to arrange a tour of Storrowton Village or give you directions to any points of interest in the Valley.

STORROWTON THEATRE

Storrowton Theatre was founded in 1959, and has been offering the Greater Springfield area exciting summer entertainment ever since. Located on the grounds of the Eastern States Exposition, the theatre is situated near picturesque Storrowton Village and the Avenue of the States. Storrowton presents an enjoyable blend of concert attractions and the best of Broadway's plays and musical comedies during its 12 week summer season. Stars from Broadway, films, television, and the supper clubs of Las Vegas perform each year on the round, arena-style stage, surrounded by 2300 people sitting in comfortable canvas deck chairs within the intimacy of a colorful big-top.

STAGE/WEST

Stage/West, Western Massachusetts' only professional regional theatre, has received national acclaim for its productions of classical and contemporary drama and its world premieres of new plays.

Co-produced by managing director, Stephen E. Hays, and artistic director, John Ulmer, Stage/West will open its 8th season of exciting drama on November 2, 1974 and continue production through May 1975.

Each season the professional Equity company of distinguished artists performs six plays in the intimate, 360 seat theatre, located on the Eastern States Exposition Grounds in West Springfield.

A series of Heritage Matinees each year provides live theatre entertainment for 10,000 local high school students, and professional children's theatre events are scheduled as often as possible.

Stage/West is a project of the Springfield Theatre Arts Association, a non-profit organization. It is supported by a subscription audience of nearly 5000 and is partially subsidized by federal and state grants as well as by private and corporate donations.

12 DAYS IN SEPTEMBER.... DON'T MISS IT

Much progress has been made in the West Springfield Public Schools in the area of curriculum development. Problems in education are compounded by the rapidity of social change. Knowledge becomes a pyramiding process as we face the changes. Major thrusts are directed toward the implementation of Chapter 766 - which basically directs individualization of educational programs according to the strengths and weaknesses of the individual pupil.

Another main thrust will be in the areas of occupational, vocational career education. "The world of work" hopefully will be partners in a system of satellite classrooms.

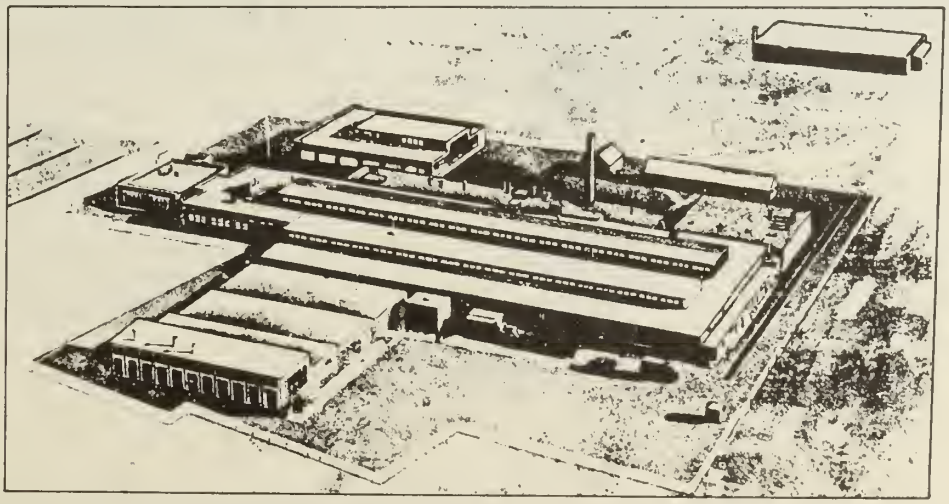
We want to assure our citizenry that the average pupil will be afforded "equal time". We will continue to broaden the experiences and learning environment of the pupils.

Responsible involvement by our pupils will be encouraged for their preparation in a democratic society. Our goals point to the ability to learn - to think creatively, critically, quantitatively - skill development in communication - develop ethical behavior by developing respect for others and maintaining values throughout the living process.

High standards and expectation will be maintained in the process of education in the West Springfield Public Schools.

INDUSTRIAL

West Springfield, because of its ideal location as an industrial center, has attracted outstanding and nationally-known industries to the community.



WICO-THE PRESTOLITE COMPANY, DIVISION OF ELTRA CORP.

Since that time magnetos, distributors, complex ignition systems, and other allied precision products have been produced by them. The modern 125,000 square foot one-story plant is designed for economical production with assembly line speed, and is located on the Penn Central Railroad and close to excellent trucking facilities.

STRATHMORE PAPER CO., DIVISION OF HAMMERMILL PAPER CO.

The Strathmore Paper Company, headquartered in West Springfield, Mass., with plants in West Springfield, Westfield, Woronoco and Turners Falls, Mass., turn out many of the letterhead, printing, technical and artist papers that have made the name "Strathmore" synonymous with "quality papermaking" throughout the world.

RESIDENTIAL

People from all sections come to live in West Springfield, which has fine residential areas, with easy access to fine schools, churches of all faiths, stores, and factories. All of the well-established utilities are available to encourage a rapid growth of high quality homes.

Western Massachusetts Electric Company, an operating company of Northeast Utilities, furnishes electric service to over 167,500 customers in 59 cities and towns in Western Massachusetts. Its system headquarters and 210,000 kilowatt steam generating station are located in West Springfield. The company is by far the largest taxpaper in the town. The New England Power Exchange (NEPEX) which coordinates bulk power supply for the whole region, is also headquartered in this building.

WILBRAHAM HISTORY

Originally (as the pale-face reckons time), the area now called Wilbraham was a part of Springfield, most of it being the former Middle or Second Division of "the Outward Commons on the east side of the Grate River", and was commonly referred to as "the mountains" becuase of a chain of hills in the eastern half of the territory, extending from the Chicopee River southerly well into Connecticut.

The first settler came into this area from Springfield in 1731, and ten years later the population was sufficient for the establishment of the Fourth Precinct of Springfield with its own church and minister. The growth in population continued to such a point that an act was passed by the colonial General Court incorporating the Town of Wilbraham, effective on June 15, 1763.

The territory described in this act of incorporation included not only the present Wilbraham, but also the present town of Hampden. By 1878, the government-conscious populace had wearied of travelling the considerable distances necessary to attend town meetings in first the "North Parish" and the next year in the "South Parish", so the South Parish was set off from the North and incorporated as the Town of Hampden.

Essentially a farming community until the last quarter-century, the years of Wilbrham have witnessed the valley golden with ripening rye, dairy cattle grazing over most of the entire area, superior quality apples and peaches from the hillsides being shipped to Springfield, New York, the White House - even to Florida and the Pacific Isles - and in more recent times extensive turkey and chicken raising. Prior to the devastating sweep of the chestnut blight over this part of the country about the time of World War I, lumber and railroad ties were important products of the farms.

However, industry found a source of power in the streams of town: the Chicopee River along Wilbraham's north boundary, Twelve Mile Brook in the eastern section, and the Scantic River in present Hampden. These streams have provided both water and electric power for the manufacture of woolens, hats, paper (some of it used in the making of United States currency), lumber, driers, grain products and plastics.

The people of Wilbraham were never bothered by the Indians of the area. Their essentially peaceful life was interrupted by the expected participation in the Colonial Wars, the Revolutionary War, the underground railroad, the Civil War and the conflicts of this century. But Shays' Rebellion was a different matter because numbers of Shays' men spent the night in town before marching against the United States Arsenal in Springfield the next day. It was the warning brought from Wilbraham by a rider on horseback travelling through the fields and forests that enabled the government's forces to adequately prepare to end Shays' Rebellion so quickly.

The first residential sub-division development commenced operations about 1920. For several years thereafter, the number of developments increased quite slowly, because farming still flourished. But as migration to cities and enticements of industry increased, so did the number of developments, and farming decreased. Following World War II, subdivisions appeared rapidly, with the result that during the last fifteen years particularly, the nature of the town has changed from many small general farms to a relatively few but larger and specialized operations. The changes brought the first part of the town water system in 1926, and the start of the now adequate zoning bylaws in 1928. The planning board is presently engaged in an extensive master-planning and land use project.

Responding to the community's needs, in a big way.

When a prime tenant was needed for the prime building in Springfield's core redevelopment, Baystate West . . . Valley Bank was approached and Valley Bank responded with a substantial commitment. And we think this represents a tradition of leadership.

We have been pioneers in the valley with Hampden County's largest branch office system, with economic seminars for the business community, with dozens of innovative banking services . . . and with unmatched involvement in civic affairs.

Meet the people from Sun Life.

In The Springfield Area they're very good people to know

The people from Sun Life are very good people to know if you want to know how to protect your future without ruining the present.

Or if you're wondering how you'll ever get up the money for college for your kids.

Or if you have bad dreams about landing in the hospital with a long illness. (You get over it, but your savings account doesn't)

Or if you're a businessman looking for group insurance plans that combine maximum coverage with minimum cost.

Or if you just want to talk things over with someone who understands.

You won't find anyone more interested, under-standing, or helpful than the people from Sun Life.

Get to know them this year.

WHAT ARE "ELEGANT MISTAKES?"

- A dress, suit, coat that someone paid a lot of money for - only to discover that it didn't fit the occasion.
- Infants clothes bought with loving care only to discover they were the wrong color when the Stork crossed up the proud parents by delivering a boy instead of a girl or vice versa.
- A picture, vase, tea set or any gift which some Bride received from dear old Aunt Mary - but which just simply clashed with everything in her decor.
- Drapes, bedspreads . . . slightly used then stored away when someone redecorated.
- Bracelets, baubles and beads - in mint condition but someone tired of them.
- Furs - worn only a few times because "Milady" had a husband (or boy friend) who could afford giving her a new one before the old one had had the proper mileage.

By now you have the idea of what it's all about. The "Elegant Mistakes" are left with us for sale for 90 days. If not sold then, back they go to the owner and more is brought in for your selection.

Nothing is accepted for re-sale that was cheap to begin with, or has been used to the point of shoddiness. All clothing has been dry cleaned. It must have been QUALITY and EXPENSIVE when originally purchased. You can buy it for as much as 75% off its original price.

In short, ALL articles - from Decorative Accessories to Designers Gowns - are "ELEGANT."

CHINA - FURS - JEWELRY - PURSES - MUSICAL INSTRUMENTS
LAMPS - PICTURES - SPORTING GOODS - CLOTHING - LINENS
GLOVES - SCARFS - ANTIQUES, too. You're liable to find most anything at "ELEGANT MISTAKES.
